

Evolv Social Media Guidelines

At Evolv, we believe safety isn't just something we build into physical spaces, it's something we cultivate in how we engage, online and off. Our social media pages are open forums to learn, ask questions, and connect with our community, customers, and partners. To keep these spaces inclusive and productive, we ask that everyone follows a few simple guidelines.

Be Respectful

We welcome healthy dialogue and diverse perspectives, but personal attacks, hate speech, harassment, or discriminatory remarks of any kind will not be tolerated.

Protect Privacy

For your safety and others', please do not post personal or private information—including your own, someone else's, or any sensitive security details. We'll remove any such content to ensure privacy is respected.

Be Constructive

Feedback is always welcome, especially when it helps us grow. If you have a concern or criticism, we invite you to share it thoughtfully and with the intent of fostering improvement. If you have specific questions or concerns related to your account or our services, please reach out to email@evolvtechnology.com.

Be Kind to Others

We reserve the right to report and remove comments and block individuals that:

- Make discriminatory or defamatory statements, or post offensive or obscene content.
- Share false, deceptive, or misleading information.
- Spam or post repetitive promotions.
- Incite or encourage violence or spread hate.

Need to Report Something?

If you see something that doesn't align with these values, please message us directly or email us at email@evolvtechnology.com. We'll take appropriate action to keep this a safer space for all.

We're proud to stand for safety, dignity, and respect—everywhere, including here. Thanks for being part of our community.
